Understanding Botox: More Than Just Wrinkles

Before we delve into the specifics of Allura Medspa, let's quickly recap what Botox actually is. Botox, or botulinum toxin type A, is a purified protein injected into muscles to temporarily reduce their activity. This results in a smoothing effect on wrinkles and fine lines, particularly those caused by facial expressions like frowning and squinting. It's a non-surgical, minimally invasive procedure that's become incredibly popular for its ability to rejuvenate the appearance of the face, creating a more youthful and refreshed look. The effects are temporary, typically lasting three to four months, requiring repeat treatments to maintain results.
