The Story of the Fox and the Grapes (लोमड़ी और अंगूर) in Hindi

The most common and straightforward translation of "The Fox and the Grapes" in Hindi would be लोमड़ी और अंगूर (Lomṛī aur Angūr). Let's examine a version of the story using simple and easily understandable Hindi:

एक लोमड़ी बहुत भूखी थी। दूर से उसने कुछ रसीले, लाल अंगूर लटकते हुए देखे। उसका मुँह पानी आया। उसने छलाह मारा और अंगूरों को छूने की कोशिश की, लेकिन वे बहुत ऊँचे थे। बार-बार कोशिश करने के बाद भी उसने अंगूर नहीं छू सके।

अंत में, निराशा होकर, उसने कहा, "ये अंगूर तो खट्टे ही होंगे! मुझे पता नहीं है कि मैं उन्हें क्यों छू नहीं पा रहा।" और उसने वहाँ से चला गया।

Translation:

There was a fox who was very hungry. From a distance, she saw some juicy, red grapes hanging on a vine. Her mouth watered. She jumped to reach those grapes, but they were too high. Even after trying repeatedly, she couldn't reach them.

Finally, disappointed, she said, "These grapes are sour anyway! I don't care about them." And she went away.

This version uses simple Hindi vocabulary, making it accessible to a wide audience. However, different translations might emphasize different aspects of the story, using more sophisticated language or focusing on particular aspects of the fox's character or motivations.

The beauty of translating fables lies in its adaptability. While the core narrative remains consistent, subtle variations in word choice can alter the tone and emphasis.
