We'll delve into each section, providing examples and tips to help you understand the exam better and boost your preparation. Let's get started!

Section A: Comprehension Passage

The WASSCE 2019 English Language paper typically begins with a comprehension passage. This section tests your reading comprehension skills, your ability to identify the main idea, and your understanding of specific details within the text. The passage itself can vary in length and topic, often focusing on current events, social issues, or literary extracts.

Key Question Types in Section A:

Literal comprehension questions: These directly ask for information explicitly stated in the passage. For example, "What was the main reason given for...?" or "According to the passage, who...?" These require careful reading and precise answers.

Inferential comprehension questions: These require you to draw conclusions based on the information provided, rather than finding direct answers. Examples include, "What can be inferred from the author's tone?" or "What is the likely outcome based on the passage?"

Vocabulary questions: You'll often be asked to define words or phrases within their context in the passage. Understanding the meaning of the word in the sentence, not just its dictionary definition, is crucial here.

Summary questions: These require you to condense key information from the passage into a concise summary, highlighting the main points.

Strategies for Section A:

Read the passage carefully: Don't rush. Read the passage at least twice, focusing on understanding the main idea and the flow of information.

Identify keywords: Pay close attention to keywords and phrases that signal important information.

Answer questions in order: Answering questions as you read through the passage can help solidify your understanding.

Use textual evidence: When answering inferential questions, always support your answer with evidence from the passage.

Section B: Summary

Section B of the WASSCE 2019 English Language paper usually involves writing a summary of a given passage. This section assesses your ability to identify the main points of a text and express them concisely and accurately. The instructions often specify a word limit, making brevity and clarity crucial for success.

Key Aspects of Section B:

Identify the main points: Carefully read the passage and identify the central themes and key supporting details.

Use your own words: Avoid copying phrases directly from the passage. Rephrase the information in your own words to demonstrate comprehension.

Maintain coherence and cohesion: Ensure your summary flows logically and uses appropriate transitional words and phrases.

Adhere to the word limit: Exceeding the word limit will negatively affect your score, so practice writing concise summaries.

Section C: Essay Writing

Section C tests your ability to write a well-structured and coherent essay on a given topic. This section typically offers a choice of essay topics, allowing you to select one that best suits your strengths and knowledge. The topics often cover a range of social, political, economic, and environmental issues.

Key Elements of a Good Essay:

Clear introduction: Your introduction should clearly state your thesis statement – the main point you'll be arguing.

Well-developed body paragraphs: Each paragraph should focus on a single supporting point, with relevant examples and evidence.

Logical flow and coherence: Ensure your essay flows logically from one point to the next, using appropriate transitional words and phrases.

Strong conclusion: Summarize your main points and restate your thesis statement in a new and insightful way.

Proper grammar and mechanics: Pay close attention to grammar, spelling, punctuation, and sentence structure.

Section D: Grammar and Vocabulary

This section focuses on testing your knowledge of English grammar and vocabulary. Questions may include identifying grammatical errors, choosing appropriate words or phrases, and applying various grammatical rules. This section often involves sentence correction, parts of speech, and verb tenses.

Key Areas Covered in Section D:
